BIOGRAPHICAL/HISTORICAL NOTE

Joseph E. Chance is a fifth generation Texan whose great-great-grandfather fought for Texas Independence in 1836 at San Jacinto and whose great-grandfather fought for Civil War in 1862 at Shiloh. Chance is a college graduate that attended college far longer than he should have to become an “academic.” He is married to Carolyn Louise Rogers Chance and this happy union produced three daughters. The eldest, Anna Louise Chance, is a clinical psychologist; the middle child, Sarah Jayne Chance Rodriguez, is an otolaryngologist, and the baby girl, Rachel Elizabeth Chance Bell, is a literary editor. He is a founding member of the Liar’s Club that meets each Saturday at the exclusive Las Compadres Restaurant and his hobbies include gardening, which includes propagation of the neem and moringa trees, and an appreciation of petrified wood.
